EDITORIAL

Welcome to the latest edition of our school magazine—a canvas of our collective achievements, memories, and the brilliant sparks of curiosity that define this academic year. This time, we draw inspiration from the unseen forces that shape our universe as we celebrate a major global milestone:

Embracing the Quantum Leap

The United Nations has officially declared this period to observe the International Year of Quantum Science. This global initiative aims at raising awareness about quantum technologies and their profound impact on the future. As Carmelites, this theme invites us to look at our growth through a completely new lens. Beyond the laboratory, this incredible field of Quantum Physics teaches us valuable life lessons:

Being open to new possibilities in our academic and personal lives.

Embracing uncertainty with courage and resilience rather than fear.

Seeing things from different perspectives to build a more empathetic community.

Quantum physics is revolutionizing our understanding of the world and inspiring new discoveries that can transform our lives and future. In the same way, the school year has breathed fresh energy and verve into our academic structure, encouraging every student to think deeply, question boldly, and leap forward.

Progressing across curricular and co-curricular activities, we've strengthened bonds and deepened relationships within our school community. From academic triumphs to cultural achievements, our students and staff have vividly showcased their unique talent and creativity through a plethora of activities. As editors, we've witnessed the incredible dedication and passion poured into each contributor's work.

Within these pages, you'll find stories highlighting collective milestones, and capturing the unique spirit of our school. This magazine stands as a true testament to the unwavering commitment of our students, teachers, and staff.

Join us in exploring and appreciating the diverse talents that make our school community so vibrant and unique. We are truly grateful for all the blessings received, and we hope and pray that more students continue to actively participate in the wonderful activities organized by our institution.

Come, relive these memories with us, as you flip through the pages.

Happy reading! ✨

From the PRINCIPAL'S Desk

It is with immense pride and joy that I welcome you to the first-ever edition of our school's e-magazine—a significant milestone in our journey towards innovation, sustainability, and excellence. This digital publication is more than a collection of events; it is a vibrant reflection of our learning experiences, achievements, creativity, and the collective spirit that has defined this academic year.

The year has been especially meaningful as the world celebrates the International Year of Quantum Science. Quantum thinking encourages us to look beyond the obvious—to embrace curiosity, adapt to change, explore possibilities, and recognize that even the smallest actions can create extraordinary impact. These values resonate deeply with the spirit of education, where every question asked, every idea explored, and every challenge accepted becomes a stepping stone towards growth and transformation.

Guided by our vision, "Rooted in God for Transformation of Self and Society," and inspired by our motto, "God is My Strength," we have continued to nurture young minds who are intellectually competent, socially responsible, environmentally conscious, and prepared for the future.

This academic year also marked an important step in our digital transformation with the successful implementation of our Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) system. From streamlining communication and administration to strengthening collaboration between the school and parents, the ERP has enhanced efficiency, transparency, and connectivity, enabling us to serve our school community with greater effectiveness.

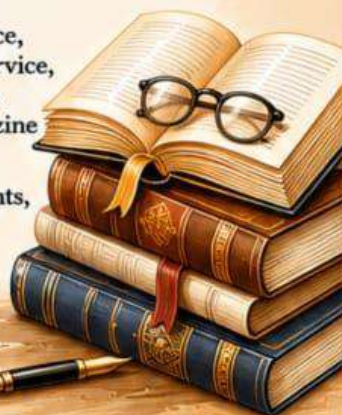

One of the highlights of the year has been the wholehearted participation of every class in two meaningful, year-long initiatives - an Environmental Project and a Social Outreach Project. These initiatives transformed learning into action. Students not only explored real-world challenges but also became active contributors to creating sustainable practices and fostering a spirit of empathy and social responsibility. These projects remind us that lasting change begins with informed minds, compassionate hearts, and consistent action.

As you turn these digital pages, you will relive moments of academic excellence, cultural celebrations, sporting achievements, leadership initiatives, innovation, service, and collaboration. Each article, photograph, and creative contribution reflects the enthusiasm and dedication of our students, teachers, and staff, making this e-magazine a true celebration of our collective journey.

My sincere appreciation goes to the editorial team, faculty members, students, parents, and every individual whose efforts have made this inaugural e-magazine a reality. May this publication continue to inspire us to think creatively, act responsibly, embrace innovation, and contribute meaningfully to the transformation of our society.

Happy Reading!

Journey Behind the Badge

"It was not a perfect journey, but it was an imperfectly perfect one—because every mistake became a lesson, and every challenge became an opportunity to grow."

Some journeys begin with a dream, while others begin with an unexpected moment. This journey began on 18th June, with an announcement that came as a complete surprise. Being selected as the Head Girl was unforeseen, yet what initially seemed like a single achievement gradually evolved into an experience that transformed an entire school year. In retrospect, it was never merely about holding a position or wearing a badge; it was about growth, learning, responsibility, and self-discovery.

The Investiture Ceremony marked the beginning of this remarkable chapter. Receiving the badge and taking the oath brought with it a profound sense of pride, gratitude, and responsibility. More than a symbol of leadership, the badge represented the trust and confidence the school placed in me. It served as a constant reminder of the values I was expected to uphold and the responsibilities I had undertaken. The encouragement and faith shown by my teachers, family, and well-wishers became a source of motivation throughout the year.

As the academic year progressed, each responsibility offered a new opportunity to learn. Conducting assemblies, understanding the planning and coordination that take place behind every successful event, representing the student council, and contributing to various school activities provided invaluable experiences. Every task brought its own challenges and lessons. Moments of uncertainty often became growth opportunities, while mistakes evolved into valuable learning experiences that strengthened confidence, resilience, and a sense of responsibility.

A significant part of this journey was the privilege of working alongside an exceptional cabinet team. Every achievement was the result of collective effort, cooperation, and mutual support. Through planning, organising, problem-solving, and celebrating successes together, strong bonds and lasting memories were formed. The spirit of teamwork demonstrated throughout the year reinforced the importance of collaboration in achieving shared goals.

Among the many events of the year, Teachers' Day remains particularly memorable. What appeared to be a smooth and successful celebration was, in reality, the outcome of weeks of preparation, rehearsals, dedication, and teamwork. Despite numerous challenges along the way, the determination and commitment of everyone involved ensured its success. Witnessing the joy and appreciation it brought to the teachers made the experience especially rewarding and reaffirmed the value of perseverance and collective effort.

Numerous other occasions, including Sports Day, inter-house competitions, assemblies, farewell celebrations, and various school programmes, further enriched this experience. Each event presented fresh responsibilities and opportunities for personal development. More importantly, these experiences highlighted an important lesson: leadership is not defined by authority or recognition, but by responsibility, service, commitment, and the ability to work with others towards a common purpose.

This journey would not have been possible without the guidance and encouragement of many individuals. I am sincerely grateful to our Principal, Sister Snehanjali, for placing her trust in me and providing me with the opportunity to learn and grow through this role. My heartfelt gratitude also extends to my teachers, whose support and mentorship played an invaluable role throughout the year. I am equally thankful to my family for their unwavering belief in me, and to my cousin, whose constant encouragement and guidance remained a source of strength during this journey.

Looking back, the memories that stand out are not those of a title or position, but of the lessons learned, the challenges overcome, the friendships built, and the experiences gained. Serving as Head Girl offered far more than an opportunity to lead; it provided invaluable life lessons that fostered confidence, resilience, and personal growth. While the badge may eventually be passed on, the experiences and memories associated with it will remain enduring reminders of a chapter that shaped me in meaningful ways. What began as a surprise became one of the most significant and rewarding journeys of my school life—one that will always be remembered with gratitude and pride.

Legacy

Woven with Love and Kindness

Some farewells are hard to write because they mark the end of an era. This year, our school bids goodbye to Tr. Sharon, who has walked the corridors of Apostolic Carmel High School for 29 beautiful years.

She was the kind of teacher whose presence felt like home. The moment a child needed help, she would be there — with a calm voice, steady hands, and endless reassurance. On more than one occasion, she personally escorted students to Holy Family Hospital, waiting with them until they were out of danger. That quiet commitment to care was never about duty. It was simply who she was.

In class too, she made a difference that went beyond marks and syllabus. She noticed the quiet ones, the ones who doubted themselves, the ones who needed an extra push. With patience and ingenuity, she broke down difficult ideas, found new ways to explain them, and gave every learner the confidence to try again. During board preparations, her guidance became a pillar for many students, helping them believe that they could.

Tr. Sharon brought lightness wherever she went. Her laughter could lift a heavy day, and her optimism reminded us to look for the good. She believed in clear conversations and clean slates, never letting misunderstandings linger. Outside the classroom, she expressed herself through creativity — weaving, knitting, and crafting with care, and finding joy in cooking for others. Sharing was her way of celebrating.

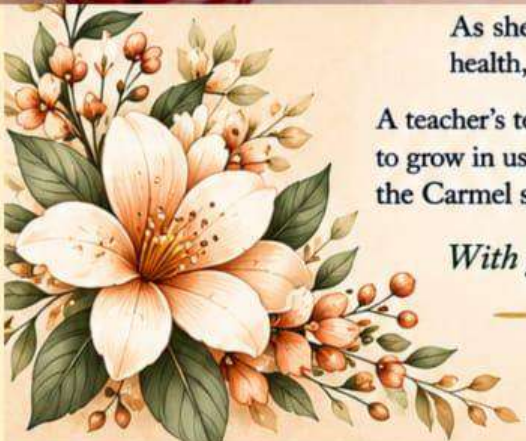

What she leaves behind is not just a record of years served, but a culture of kindness. She taught us that education is not only about lessons, but about empathy, encouragement, and showing up for people.

As she steps into this new phase, we send her with wishes for good health, peace, and time to pursue all the things that bring her joy.

A teacher's tenure may end, but the values she sowed continue to grow in us. Tr. Sharon will forever hold a special place in the Carmel story, and in our hearts.

With gratitude and warm wishes,

- Tr Patricia

Every Page Has a Purpose

“ A tree gives us paper, and it is our responsibility to use it wisely. ”

With this thought in mind, our class chose to make notebooks from unused paper. We collected blank pages from old notebooks and transformed them into new ones, giving every page a second chance.

Through this activity, we realised that saving paper means saving trees and protecting our environment. It also taught us to avoid wasting resources and to use every page carefully. Working together made the project enjoyable, and each notebook reflected our creativity and teamwork.

This simple yet meaningful project showed us that even small actions can make a big difference. We proudly learnt that every page we save today helps build a greener tomorrow.

CLASS V A

Little Hearts, Big Smiles

Small
Donations,
Big Difference

The happiest hearts are those that share.

Our outreach project focused on collecting essential items for children living in an orphanage. We believed that every child deserves love, care, and the basic necessities to grow with confidence and dignity.

As we collected notebooks, stationery, toiletries, and other useful items, we realised that something small for us could mean so much to someone else. The project encouraged us to look beyond ourselves and appreciate the blessings we often take for granted.

This experience taught us the true meaning of kindness, gratitude, and compassion. We learnt that sharing is not about how much we give, but the love with which we give it. Together, we discovered that every act of generosity has the power to brighten someone's day and fill hearts with hope.

CLASS V B

Every Drop Counts

“ Water is life's greatest gift—let's use it wisely.” ”

Our class maintained a Water Saver Diary to understand the importance of conserving water in our daily lives. For one week, we recorded the different ways we saved water at home and in school.

This activity made us realise how easily water is wasted and how simple habits like turning off taps and reusing water can make a difference. It also encouraged our families to join us in practising water conservation.

The project helped us become more responsible and aware of our daily actions. We discovered that every drop is precious and that small efforts today will ensure enough water for future generations.

A Toy, A Smile, A Memory

Small toys,
big happiness,
beautiful
memories. ♥

"Every toy carries a story, and every child deserves one to cherish."

Our class collected clean, gently used toys to donate to children in an orphanage. Along with each toy, we attached a heartfelt Message of Joy, hoping to make every gift even more special.

While selecting and packing our toys, we realised that happiness multiplies when it is shared. We imagined the smiles on the children's faces and understood that even the simplest gift can create lasting memories.

This project taught us kindness, empathy, and the joy of giving without expecting anything in return. More than donating toys, we shared love, hope, and friendship.

It reminded us that the greatest gifts are not wrapped in paper—they are wrapped in kindness and compassion. ♥

Turning Plastic into Possibilities

“Waste is only waste if we fail to reuse it.”

Our class explored the concept of Eco-Bricks by filling plastic bottles with non-recyclable plastic waste. We chose this project to understand the harmful effects of plastic pollution and discover a practical solution.

As we created Eco-Bricks, we learnt about the importance of reducing, reusing, and recycling plastic. We also realised that even small efforts can help keep our surroundings clean and protect nature.

This activity was both educational and enjoyable. It inspired us to think differently about waste and encouraged us to make eco-friendly choices every day. We proudly believe that every Eco-Brick is a small step towards a cleaner and greener planet.

Passing on the Joy of Reading

A book shared is a world of imagination gifted.

BOOKS TO SHARE

One book can change a mind, a heart, and a future.

Our class believed that every child deserves the opportunity to experience the magic of reading. We collected storybooks and library books that we had already enjoyed and outgrown, carefully checked that they were in good condition, and packed them with love for children who would treasure them next.

Share a book.
Change a life.

Our books were handed over to Ms. Sakina Mithiborwala, an independent social worker who selflessly reaches remote villages in Gujarat and Maharashtra. Through her dedicated efforts, these books found their way into the hands of underprivileged children who have little or no access to libraries or storybooks.

This project taught us that knowledge grows when it is shared. It reminded us that a single book can spark imagination, inspire dreams, and open the door to countless adventures. We proudly realised that by passing on the joy of reading, we were helping write a brighter future—one story at a time.

Books in our hands today,
hope in their hands tomorrow.

♥ When we share books, we share possibilities. ♥

CLASS VI A

Growing Green, Growing Together

Our Little Garden of Hope

“Every seed we plant is a promise to the future.”

With this belief, our class chose to grow and care for vegetable plants. We wanted to understand how plants support life and how even a small garden can make a positive impact on the environment.

From preparing the soil to watering and nurturing each plant, we learnt that growth requires patience, care, and consistency. Watching tiny saplings flourish under our care filled us with joy and a sense of responsibility. We also realised that plants provide us with oxygen, food, and a healthier environment.

This project helped us connect with nature in a meaningful way. It taught us that caring for plants is not just a task but a responsibility. We proudly learnt that when we nurture nature, it rewards us with life, beauty, and hope.

OUTREACH PROGRAMME

CLASS VI A

Sometimes, the greatest gift we can give is our time.

The Gift of Time

TIME
well spent is love
well shared.

Our outreach project encouraged us to spend a few meaningful minutes every day with our grandparents or elderly neighbours, helping them with simple tasks and sharing conversations.

As we listened to their stories and experiences, we realised how much they value love, attention, and companionship. We discovered that small gestures, such as helping them or simply sitting beside them, brought immense happiness.

This project strengthened the bond between generations and taught us to respect and appreciate our elders. It reminded us that kindness is shown through actions, not words.

We proudly learnt that every moment spent with our elders becomes a precious memory for both them and us.

Small moments today,
beautiful memories
forever.

Our time, their smile, our bond, forever strong.

CLASS VI B

Giving Old T-Shirts a New Life

“Reuse today for a better tomorrow.”

Our class selected this project to reduce plastic pollution by making reusable cloth bags from old T-shirts. We also participated in plastic recycling to spread awareness about responsible waste management.

Transforming old clothes into useful bags was both creative and enjoyable. We realised that items we no longer use can still serve an important purpose. Every cloth bag we made was one less plastic bag harming our environment.

This activity encouraged us to think differently about waste and inspired us to adopt eco-friendly habits in our daily lives. It taught us that sustainability begins with simple choices. Together, we discovered that small changes in our lifestyle can make a big difference to our planet.

♥ Our class collected groceries and essential household items for families living in an Adivasi pada. We chose this project to support those who face daily challenges in meeting their basic needs.

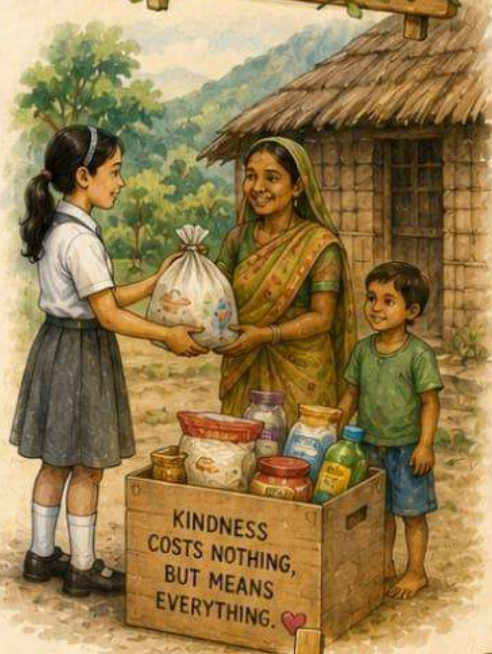

♥ While packing food grains, toiletries, and daily essentials, we realised how fortunate we are to have these necessities. The project taught us gratitude and encouraged us to think about those who need our support.

♥ This experience filled our hearts with compassion and reminded us that even small contributions can make a meaningful difference.

♥ Together, we learnt that sharing what we have is one of the greatest ways to spread hope and humanity.

Creativity with a Purpose

Waste today
Wonder tomorrow

“Waste becomes wonderful when creativity takes over.”

Our class explored the world of recycling by creating beautiful and useful items such as keychains, cloth bags, jewellery, and decorative pieces from discarded materials.

As we worked together, we realised that waste is not always useless. With imagination and teamwork, ordinary materials were transformed into colourful creations. This project encouraged us to reduce waste while discovering our creative talents.

More importantly, we learnt that recycling helps conserve natural resources and keeps our surroundings clean. Every item we made carried a message of hope for a greener future.

Through this experience, we proudly understood that protecting the environment can be creative, enjoyable, and rewarding.

Giving with a Caring Heart

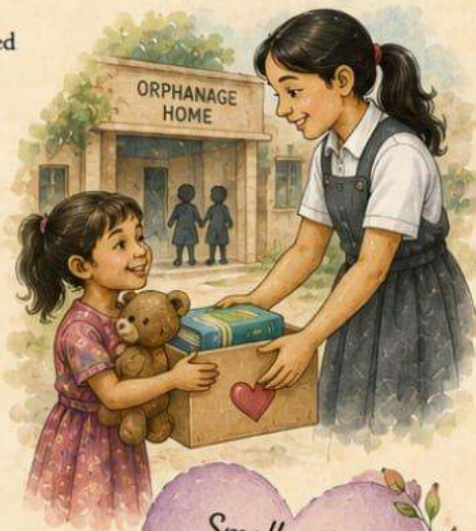

“Kindness grows when it is shared.”
Our class collected essential items for children living in an orphanage. We wanted to ensure that they received the care, comfort, and encouragement they truly deserve.

Preparing the donation boxes made us realise that many children dream of things we often take for granted. Every notebook, pencil, storybook, and useful item carried our love and good wishes.

This project helped us understand the importance of compassion and gratitude. We learnt that helping others does not always require grand gestures—small acts of kindness can leave a lasting impact.

We proudly discovered that a caring heart is the greatest gift anyone can offer.

“Be the change your planet needs.”

Inspired by this thought, we proudly became the Waste Warriors of our school. We collected discarded plastic bottles, wrappers, and other recyclable materials and transformed them into useful articles.

This project opened our eyes to the growing problem of plastic pollution and showed us that every recycled item helps protect our environment. Working together taught us teamwork, creativity, and responsibility.

The experience encouraged us to become more conscious of the waste we generate every day. We realised that protecting the Earth doesn't always require big actions—small efforts made consistently can create lasting change. We proudly believe that every responsible choice brings us one step closer to a cleaner and greener future.

One Family, One Promise

♥ "Together, we rise by lifting others." Our class adopted a family in need and pledged to provide them with monthly necessities. This project helped us understand that outreach is not a one-time act but a continuous commitment to caring for others.

♥ As we collected groceries, toiletries, and daily essentials, we realised the importance of consistency in helping those around us. Every contribution reflected our unity and compassion.

♥ The experience taught us responsibility, gratitude, and the joy of giving selflessly. It reminded us that true change begins when communities support one another. We proudly learnt that a small effort made together can transform someone's life in a big way.

♥ One promise. One family. One brighter tomorrow. ♥

CLASS VII B

Weaving a Greener Future

“Old clothes can begin a new journey.”

Our class chose to recycle old clothes by weaving colourful mats. Through this activity, we discovered that materials often considered useless can be transformed into something practical and beautiful.

Preparing the mats required patience, teamwork, and creativity. It also helped us understand the importance of reducing textile waste and making better use of available resources.

The project made us appreciate the value of recycling while inspiring us to think before throwing things away. Every mat reflected our effort to protect nature through simple yet meaningful actions.

We learnt that every thread woven with care contributes to building a more sustainable future. ♥

♥ Our outreach project focused on reaching out to street children with compassion and care. We wanted to understand their struggles while spreading hope through simple acts of kindness.

♥ This initiative helped us realise that many children do not enjoy the opportunities we often take for granted. It inspired us to value education, family, and every blessing in our lives.

♥ The experience taught us empathy, gratitude, and the importance of treating everyone with dignity and respect. We discovered that even a smile, a conversation, or a helping hand can make someone feel valued and cared for.

Clean Habits, Healthy Environment

“Cleanliness is the first step towards caring for our planet.”

Our class took the responsibility of ensuring that hand wash was available in the school washrooms, promoting hygiene and cleanliness among all students.

This initiative taught us that maintaining a clean environment begins with personal responsibility. We regularly checked supplies, encouraged proper handwashing, and motivated everyone to keep the washrooms neat.

Through this project, we learnt the importance of discipline, teamwork, and caring for the well-being of others. It reminded us that environmental responsibility also includes creating healthy surroundings for our school community.

We proudly realised that small acts of care can make a big difference in everyone's daily life. ♥

*They may have

Our class, 7C were taken for an outreach by our class teacher, Tr. Mansi. The outreach was to show us how fortunate we really are.

Each student handed a few toys and a banana to a beggar, to girls who are less fortunate than us. The beggars were filled with joy. This was their first time ever getting a toy, ever feeling true joy. Even if it came from a small banana and toys.

Their smiles made me and all my classmates grateful for everything we are blessed with. I am grateful to my teacher and class principal for such an opportunity.

Although the whole class did not go, this outreach made us feel blessed.

Our class chose the theme Best Out of Waste to discover how discarded materials can be transformed into useful and decorative items. Alongside this, we also observed our daily use of electricity, transport, and plastic to understand our environmental impact.

Using imagination and teamwork, we converted waste into creative products while learning the importance of reducing, reusing, and recycling. Tracking our daily habits also encouraged us to conserve energy and avoid unnecessary plastic use.

This project changed the way we look at waste. It inspired us to make thoughtful choices and become more responsible towards the environment.

We proudly learnt that every creative idea can become a step towards a greener tomorrow.

Recycling for a Better Tomorrow

“Today’s recycled waste is tomorrow’s saved resource.”

Our class organised newspaper and e-waste collection drives to spread awareness about responsible waste disposal. We wanted to encourage everyone to recycle instead of throwing valuable resources away.

Through this initiative, we learnt that recycling newspapers helps save trees, while proper disposal of electronic waste protects our soil and water from harmful chemicals. The enthusiastic participation of students and parents made the project even more meaningful.

This experience taught us that environmental conservation becomes successful when everyone works together. We proudly realised that every newspaper recycled and every electronic device properly disposed of contributes to a healthier and greener planet.

- ✓ Saves Natural Resources
- ✓ Uses Less Energy
- ✓ Reduces Pollution
- ✓ Protects Our Planet

CREATED WITH CARE,

Designing and stitching the bags was both exciting and educational. We learnt that recycling fabric not only reduces waste but also conserves natural resources and protects the environment.

The project inspired us to become more responsible consumers by choosing reuse over disposal. It showed us that creativity and environmental care can go hand in hand.

- Clean clothes.
- useful kits.
- Toys for joy.

Our class collected good-quality clothes and useful items for street children. We wanted to ensure that these children felt cared for and remembered, while also encouraging everyone to donate with dignity and respect.

Sorting, folding, and packing the clothes helped us understand that something we no longer need can become a precious gift for someone else. The experience also reminded us to be grateful for the comforts we enjoy every day.

This project strengthened our values of empathy, generosity, and social responsibility. It taught us that true happiness comes from making others smile.

We proudly realised that every donation carried not just clothes, but love, care, and hope for a brighter tomorrow.

CLEANLINESS DRIVES

“ Big changes begin with small habits.” ”

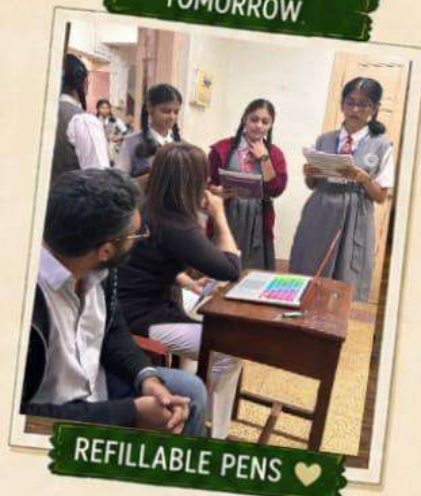

Our class promoted the use of refillable pens and organised cleanliness drives within the school. We selected this project because we wanted to reduce plastic waste and create a cleaner, healthier environment.

Using refillable pens showed us how small everyday choices can significantly reduce plastic pollution. The cleanliness drives also encouraged us to take responsibility for keeping our surroundings neat and inspiring others to do the same.

This experience taught us discipline, teamwork, and environmental responsibility. We realised that every small action counts, and together we can make a lasting impact.

KINDNESS COUNTS

Small acts of kindness create a strong school family.

Guided by the belief that charity begins at home, our class reached out to support the underprivileged students of our own school. We collected essential items to ensure that every student could continue learning with confidence and dignity.

This project helped us realise that sometimes the people who need our support are much closer than we think. It taught us empathy, gratitude, and the importance of standing by one another as one school family.

The experience reminded us that helping others is not measured by the size of our contribution but by the kindness behind it.

We proudly discovered that a caring heart can make our school a stronger and happier community.

Inspired by this thought, our class chose to make bird feeders as our environmental project. As cities continue to grow, birds often struggle to find food and water. Through this initiative, we wanted to create a safe and welcoming space for our feathered friends.

Using simple and recycled materials, we designed and placed bird feeders around suitable areas. Watching birds visit them every day filled us with excitement and reminded us of the beauty of nature. We learnt that birds play an important role in maintaining ecological balance by helping in pollination and seed dispersal.

En Route to School

My daily commute to school is mostly by bus and train, and the journey is filled with myriad experiences. These experiences have influenced and humbled me beyond words.

A part of my journey is spent in prayer, reflection, and introspection, and the remainder is spent in observation and interaction with co-passengers. The train has an electrifying, market-like atmosphere, with hawkers selling all types of wares, from snacks, clothes, and jewellery to flowers, vegetables, and fruits, and you constantly see customers negotiating with them to strike a good bargain. The beggars shower blessings, sing songs, tell sob stories, and I have also seen some carry hospital files to get some money from you. Once I saw a blind singer using a microphone to sing. Transgender beggars are a regular feature, and I have seen some among them wear the latest jewellery and clothes. One young transgender sometimes speaks in English and tries to connect with college students.

The stories I have heard from my fellow passengers have been very interesting and inspiring. One co-passenger I meet regularly is so clean, neat, and well dressed that it surprised me to hear that she works as a sweeper in BMC. In spite of working for nine years, she has not been made a permanent employee, and so she mobilises all such employees and goes for dharnas. I could see good leadership qualities in her. Her only regret in life is that she got her daughters married too early with only basic education, as she is a working woman and felt that her area is not very safe for girls. One of her daughters is miserable now as her husband is an alcoholic.

One lady sells mostly Gujarati snacks on the train on her way to Churchgate, where she has an outlet. She has brought up her two children independently after walking out of her marital home due to abuse. She was felicitated by our school management on Women's Day, as her courage, strength, and entrepreneurship are truly inspiring.

A rag picker I meet started working when her husband abandoned her and her three children for another woman, and he later committed suicide for some unknown reason. She earns around Rs 250 for half a day's work. What is admirable about this lady is that she carries no bitterness towards her late husband and still grieves for him.

I meet a widow, and she goes to Dadar to pick up vegetables, which she later sells on the street close to her house. She told me that she wears a mangal sutra and applies sindoor to keep up the pretence of being a married woman, as the attitude of the traders might change drastically if they realise she is a widow. Although she is not well educated herself, she desires to educate her two children, and her role model is her brother, who is working as a teacher in a village school.

I saw a young hawker in her early teens throw her baby onto the train seat. Fortunately, the child was not hurt, but the shocked passengers pounced on the young mother for her appalling and outrageous behaviour. In her outburst, she said that the child was a burden to her as the father of the child had abandoned her and the baby. In the midst of this drama, I saw another middle-aged hawker consoling her, saying that she too had faced the same problems in her life, but now her son is her greatest support.

One old vegetable vendor, in spite of being quite poor herself, loves to shower her affection on me by being extra generous with the vegetables. She confided in me that her late husband, who worked for BMC, died in service, and at that time her daughter was very small. She would have got the job in his place, but her in-laws contrived with the officials, and her husband's brother finally got the job. She brought up her daughter alone and got her married after a great deal of struggle. Through a quirk of fate, her married daughter got a government job at Sion Hospital when tragedy struck someone in the family and the person could no longer work. Although her daughter is doing well, she wants to be independent and prefers not to stay with her daughter's family.

Outside Bandra station, I regularly see a newspaper vendor, and she starts her work at four in the morning. Along with newspapers, she even sells homemade ginger sweets. She is one of the most cheerful, pleasant, and generous people I have met. Earlier, when she sold breakfast items like poha, she gave them freely to the poor.

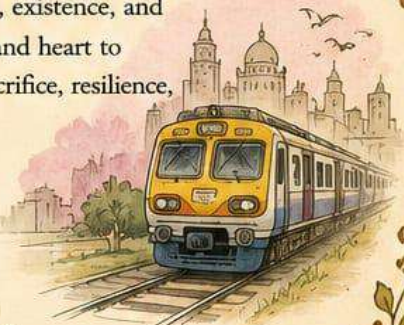

It is not only the poor who have stories to share. One municipal school teacher whom I met on the train told me how she places all her bright students in institutes that train them for various professions and skills. We also get a lot of information about different schools and their functioning from teachers whom we meet regularly.

Thus, you meet all kinds of colourful people. Some are the so-called refined, while others are rude, and some even use expletives. If you suspend your judgement, you will see, in the midst of it all, a valiant struggle for survival, existence, and human dignity. I am thankful to God that He opened my eyes and heart to these people, as they have taught me the true meaning of love, sacrifice, resilience, generosity, and humility—i.e., the essence of humanity.

*In the everyday stories of ordinary people,
I found the true meaning of humanity.*

Rooted in Carmel:

A Journey of Growth, Gratitude, and Grace

"The beautiful thing about learning is that no one can take it away from you." – B. B. King

When we first step into school, we can't wait to grow up. We count the years, dream about the future, and wish time would move faster. But somewhere along the way, without even realizing it, those years become memories we wish we could relive.

When I think of school, I don't just remember exams or report cards. I remember laughing with friends until the teacher asked us to settle down, waiting eagerly for the lunch bell, cheering during competitions, and the teachers who encouraged us whenever we doubted ourselves. Those little moments are what truly made school special.

Every student has a different journey. Some are confident on stage, some enjoy academics, while others quietly work hard every single day. School teaches us that success isn't about being the same as everyone else, it's about becoming the best version of ourselves.

Being honoured with the title of Miss Carmel and graduating as the topper of my school is something I'll always be grateful for. But those achievements weren't created overnight. They came from small, consistent efforts, learning from mistakes, and believing that every day was another chance to improve.

If there's one thing I've learnt, it's this: don't compare your journey with someone else's. Focus on becoming a little better than you were yesterday. Progress may seem slow, but one day you'll look back and realize how far you've come.

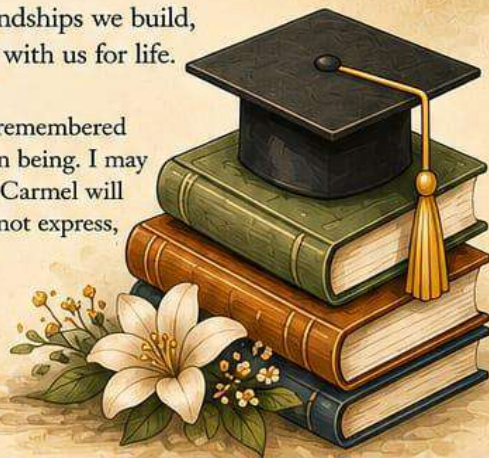

The marks we score may stay on paper, but the friendships we build, the values we learn, and the memories we make stay with us for life.

Because, in the end, the greatest success isn't just being remembered as a good student, it's being remembered as a good human being. I may have left the gates of Apostolic Carmel High School, but Carmel will never leave my heart. It has shaped me in ways words cannot express, and I will always be proud to call myself a Carmelite.

Colours of Culture:

A Celebration at Apostolic Carmel High School

Our school, celebrated its first-ever Cultural Day, an initiative introduced by our dear Principal Sister Maria Snehanjali A.C. The event was a grand success and brought together students, teachers, parents, and guests in a joyful celebration of culture, creativity, and teamwork.

The competition was held among the four school houses—Red, Blue, Green, and Yellow. Each house was assigned a different location on the school campus: Blue House in the North-East, Green House in the North, Yellow House in the West, and Red House in the South.

The event consisted of three exciting categories: Canteen Day, Dance, and Food Display. Every house worked tirelessly to decorate its area, prepare delicious food, and present colourful cultural performances. The campus was filled with enthusiasm and a spirit of healthy competition.

We were honoured to welcome our chief guests, Asif Bhamla and Ashish Shelar, who appreciated the creativity, dedication, and teamwork displayed by all the students.

The toughest competition was between Yellow House and Blue House. Both houses performed exceptionally well in all three categories. After an exciting contest, Yellow House was declared the overall winner, while Blue House proudly secured the second position.

I was a proud member of Blue House and actively contributed to all three categories—Canteen Day, Dance, and Food Display. Working under the guidance of Tr. Shilpa, Tr. Magazina, and Tr. Silveria, I learned valuable lessons about teamwork, and perseverance. Although our house finished second, I felt proud of our collective efforts and the unforgettable memories we created.

The first-ever Cultural Day at Apostolic Carmel High School was a remarkable event that celebrated talent, unity, and the rich diversity of our culture. It was an unforgettable experience that will always hold a special place in my heart, and I sincerely thank our Principal for introducing such a wonderful tradition in our school.

Experience at the H WARD ENGLISH Elocution Competition

Participating in the H Ward English Elocution Competition for the very first time was a truly memorable experience that I will always cherish. I felt excited, nervous, and proud all at the same time. What made it even more special was that I had the opportunity to present a self-written poem on the topic "A Blissful Childhood."

I was a bit nervous before going on stage, but once I started speaking, I enjoyed every moment.

Competing with students from many schools and standing in front of the judges was both exciting and challenging. The winners were announced later that same evening, and hearing my name as a winner filled me with immense joy because I was able to make my school and my parents proud.

I am truly grateful to my teachers for believing in me and giving me this wonderful opportunity and to my parents for their constant love and support. This experience has inspired me to keep writing, speak with confidence, and always give my best in every opportunity that comes my way.

From Curiosity to Confidence

Every
experience
your future.

My journey at school began with a tiny backpack and big dreams. It has always been about more than just passing exams; it's been about learning through experiences and nurturing curiosity. The dedication of my teachers and the entire faculty has made my time unforgettable. Every classroom taught me valuable lessons, and every challenge helped me grow stronger. I can still recall my mixed feelings of fear and excitement on my first day, stepping into what would become my second home.

In the early years, I focused on curiosity, building friendships, and having fun. My pre-primary teachers instilled lasting values and encouraged my love for learning. We participated in competitions like elocution, fancy dress, and sports day, which fostered a competitive spirit while we enjoyed ourselves.

Transitioning to primary school was a new adventure, with new teachers and subjects. The teachers in this phase helped shape our minds and encouraged our individuality. They welcomed all our questions and guided us through events like choral recitations and sports day, which taught us teamwork.

Our secondary section has been particularly memorable. We grew from shy students into confident young women, thanks to teachers who encouraged us to think critically and express ourselves. They provided support through challenging times and offered counseling when needed. Events like English Literary Week and talent contests helped us discover hidden talents and allowed us to participate in interschool competitions, expanding our horizons.

My school has been instrumental in shaping who I am today, and I will forever be grateful for the incredible experiences it provided. I am proud to be a Carmelite! Thank you. ❤️

leadership tomorrow.

Year to Remember: My 8th Grade Journey

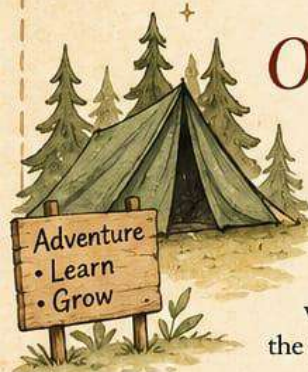

Time honestly flies when you are having fun, and my eighth-grade year was packed with memories I'll never forget. Right at the start of the year, the whole school was buzzing with excitement for the student cabinet elections and the grand investiture ceremony. Soon after, we had our Sports Day, where all four houses—Red, Blue, Green, and Yellow—competed with full energy. It was a massive proud moment for both the Yellow House and the Blue House, as they won the awards for the best march-past and maximum participation! We also celebrated Teacher's Day by decorating our classrooms to surprise our teachers, putting on special prayer services, dancing, and doing individual class performances just to say a huge thank you to them.

Team Spirit Wins!

Later in the year, our teachers completely flipped the script for Children's Day by getting up on stage and performing dances for us! Another major highlight was our Literary Week, where we performed fun skits and learned more about English grammar. We also held an English elocution competition where students recited wonderful poems, and the winners even got the amazing opportunity to perform at the Bandra Gymkhana! Speaking of competitions, our students truly shined this year. Many classmates took part in various interschool competitions, winning numerous awards in judo and karate. We also participated in interschool events and Olympiad exams for art, science, and computers, securing top ranks. Amidst all these achievements, we still found time for fun at our school picnic to Shangrila Water Park, where we spent the day splashing around and racing down water slides.

One of the coolest and most adventurous things we did was the Guiding Camp. While the RSP students went away for a few days, us Guides had an indoor camp right inside the school with an adventure team. We learned real-life survival skills like tying different knots, basic first aid, and even tried cooking without fire. We actually used a solar sheet and an aluminium bowl to cook using nothing but the heat of the sun! To wrap up the camp, we had a small test on our knots and competed in teams to build a tent completely out of sticks. My group worked so well together, and we actually won! We were so excited to get special pens from the adventure team and gold medals for being the most participative all-rounders.

To bring a wonderful year to a close, we had a spectacular Christmas celebration. We put on a Christmas skit, featured a beautifully arranged choir, and performed enthusiastic dances for a packed audience that even included special actors and actresses who came to witness our show! Our teachers helped us perfect everything by taking daily practices so the whole event would run smoothly. Looking back, eighth grade wasn't just about regular classes—it taught me teamwork, gave me survival skills, and brought me closer to my friends. A huge thank you to our principal and teachers for making this such a wonderful and unforgettable year! Lastly, in March, we had our final exams, and all of us successfully passed to the next standard. I truly hope we all meet up again soon!

Beyond the Classroom:

Our R.S.P. Camp to Durshet

Our R.S.P. camp to Nature Trails Forest Lodge in Durshet was an unforgettable experience. The location was beautiful, surrounded by thick green forests, tall trees, and scenic views that made us feel completely immersed in nature. We stayed for 2 nights and 3 days. The journey began on a comfortable A/C bus, which set the tone for the trip. The food was excellent. We were served buffet breakfast, lunch, and dinner, along with evening snacks every day. As soon as we arrived, we were divided into 6 groups, the competition to be named the best group began. Swimming in the pool was a highlight. We got to swim on all three days, which was very refreshing after outdoor activities.

DAY 1

Day 1 started with group activities like map-making and team games. After that, volunteers divided us further, with each volunteer handling 3 groups. We tried laddering and the Tarzan Swing, which was the funniest activity as almost everyone ended up slipping into the muddy water. We also participated in archery, net climbing, and an obstacle course. In the evening, we had a Mumukshu Show, followed by a campfire with supervisors, volunteers, teachers, and students. Every night ended with a DJ, where all the students danced. Each morning began early with exercise sessions conducted by our sir to prepare us for the day.

DAY 2

Day 2 was full of adventure. We went trekking through beautiful forest trails in the morning, followed by group activities by the riverside. Later, we went deeper into the jungle for a challenging obstacle course and ziplining. We also attended useful learning sessions on different types of ropes and their use in emergencies, and on various species, their dangers, and first-aid in case of a bite. Other group activities included pitching tents and making collages using only natural materials found around us. In the evening, we had a cooking competition where each group had to prepare a meal on the field using the ingredients provided. We were judged on both taste and presentation. This was followed by a talent show where every group performed a group dance.

Day 3 was tiring but exciting. We did rock climbing and played final group games like a treasure hunt and a memory game. The camp concluded with a grand prize distribution ceremony. There was a lot of excitement as we waited to find out which team would win the overall camp. Although only one team won, every group had put in great effort and teamwork.

The entire experience was truly memorable. The delicious food kept our energy levels up throughout the camp. However, the best part was the bonding. We made wonderful memories with our friends and also got to know many new people through the group activities. Working together for competitions brought us all closer. Our supervisors, teachers, and volunteers ensured our safety during the adventure activities and made sure everyone had a great time.

We returned home exhausted but with amazing stories and memories that we will cherish forever.

8 Guiding Camp:

⇒ Skills, Teamwork and Fun

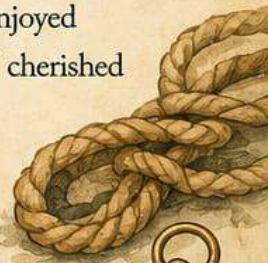

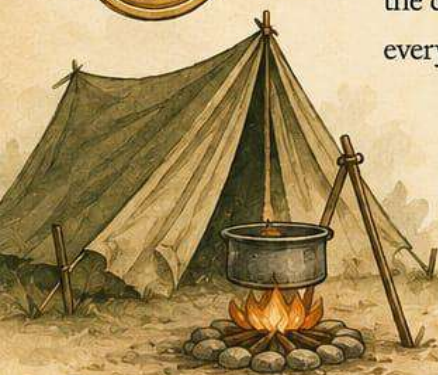

On 18th October 2025, an adventurous guiding camp was organized by “The Adventure Group” at Apostolic Carmel High School. Students gathered in school at 7:30 am and the camp continued till 5:30 pm. The day began with a prayer song and flag hoisting, followed by clear instructions given to all students. After the flag hoisting, the scarf ceremony was held where we took the oath and received our scarves from our teachers. Group leaders and assistants were appointed to manage the teams. It was a proud moment for all of us and filled us with a sense of patriotism, discipline, and belonging.

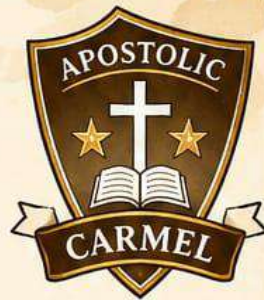

Various activities were conducted throughout the day to promote teamwork and learning. Inter-group competitions were held to create creative and attractive group flags, and everyone participated enthusiastically while maintaining discipline and sportsmanship. A tasty lunch was served to all students. We also attended an informative session on safety and first-aid. A special session was conducted on the use of solar energy and the importance of energy conservation, where students prepared Maggi using solar boxes and solar panels. This was both fun and educational. Different rope tying techniques were also taught by the trainers.

The camp concluded with a prize distribution ceremony where the winning group members received medals from “The Adventure Group”. It was a proud moment for the winners. I thoroughly enjoyed the day. It was full of learning, excitement, and teamwork, and I cherished every moment of this memorable experience.

My Year at Apostolic Carmel High School – 2025-2026

*In Faith,
In Learning,
In Service*

The academic year 2025–2026 has been one of the most memorable and enriching years of my school life so far. At Apostolic Carmel High School, this year was not just about textbooks and exams — it was about growth, experiences, and the wonderful balance we found between learning and living.

Academically, I gave my best to my major subjects and tried to understand concepts beyond just memorizing them. But what truly made this year special was that our school never let us feel that studies were the only thing that mattered. The best part of being a Carmel student is how we are encouraged to shine both inside and outside the classroom.

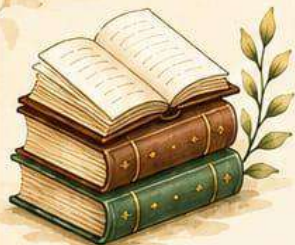

I had the opportunity to take part in a variety of activities. From science laboratory experiments that made concepts come alive, to inter-house competitions where I learned the value of teamwork, leadership, and healthy competition — every experience taught me something new. Each event, big or small, made me feel more confident and helped me discover strengths I didn't know I had.

The school celebrations were another highlight. The Feast of Our Lady of Mount Carmel was especially meaningful. It brought the entire school together in prayer, joy, and unity. Participating in the celebrations made me understand the values our school stands for — faith, discipline, compassion, and service to others.

Looking back, I feel grateful for the teachers, friends, and countless moments that made this year so productive and joyful. This academic year taught me that real education is not limited to classrooms. It happens on the sports field, on stage, in labs, and in the quiet moments of reflection too.

I have thoroughly enjoyed 2025–2026 at Apostolic Carmel High School, and I hope my classmates and juniors have felt the same warmth, learning, and spirit that I did.

Journey with Bharatanatyam:

Eleven Years of Rhythm, Grace, and Culture

When I looked back at my five-year-old self, I remembered stepping into my very first Bharatanatyam class simply because my mom wanted me to try it. Eleven years later, I could confidently say it was one of the best paths I had ever taken. Throughout that time, dance was not just a hobby for me—it was a massive part of who I was.

Having eleven years of stage experience came with a pretty great superpower: I did not get stage fright. Walking out under the bright lights never made me nervous; instead, it always made me feel incredibly proud.

Honestly, I loved every single aspect of that art form. I loved the intricate, rhythmic footwork that challenged my body, and the stunning traditional jewelry and costumes that made every performance feel magical. But my absolute favorite part was the storytelling. Being able to express deep emotions and narrative tales purely through my facial expressions and hand movements (mudras) felt like a completely unique form of communication.

Balancing intense dance practice with schoolwork was definitely tough sometimes. But I believed that if a person truly loved something, it never felt like a burden. In fact, after a long, stressful day of classes and studying, dancing was the ultimate stress-reliever for me. It was exactly where I went to clear my mind.

Looking back over that decade, the biggest lessons Bharatanatyam taught me went far beyond the dance floor. It taught me the value of patience, and it gave me a powerful way to express myself. Most importantly, it kept me deeply connected to my beautiful culture. To anyone who was hesitant to start a new passion: finding something you loved, sticking with it, and letting it shape you was entirely worth it.

With gratitude
