WINTER SEASON

Winter season is the coldest season of the year. This season is very important in our life. This season is mostly known for low temperature and falling snow. In India, the winter starts in November and ends in February. There is a winter vacation for students in this season. This vacation is full of fun. This is one of my favourite seasons. I visit my native village in every winter vacation. I meet my extended family there. We all have to wear proper woollen clothes so that the coldness can't beat us. Most of the kids and old people fall sick in this season because of too much cold. Sun is rarely seen in the sky. People don't come out without any major reason. It becomes hard to maintain a normal life, sometimes in too much low temperature. Winter season is the best time to get fresh vegetables and fruits. My mother cooks varieties of dishes in this season. I love eating them. Winter mornings are really awesome. Sometimes, I go for a morning walk in the morning. Date juice is my favourite drink and I always have it when I go to my village in winter.

I ♥ winter!

In The End

In the end,
The ultimatum is the never-ending game of catching what was never lost,
A fire that struck once and let you die out, twice.
In the endless mountains with rivers flowing down,
I think I finally found myself.
And I promise,
Even when the finish become inevitable,
My love shall survive.
Leaving the thought of when I realised,
The classical tune ran when the beginning began,
A smile was never the light reflecting from my eyes.
My forsaken hopes and desires strung me,
With my reality,
Wasn't I born to rule the endless skies and the beaches that rise with the sunrise?
Or was I born to create the philosophies of time?
In the end....
