Students make 'seed balls' to grow trees in Pilibhit district

Keshav Agarwal | TNN

Pilibhit: Students at a public school in Pilibhit embarked on a creative activity of preparing 'seed balls' to grow into trees without planting saplings. They prepared a mixture of clay, compost, and fungicide and placed 2-3 seeds of different species inside the ball after poking a hole in it. The holes were covered with the mixture and left in shade to dry for around five days.

The idea was given by Col (retd) Prabhjot Singh Bindra, a farmer and pioneer of NGO Parivartan. "The seed balls can also be carried during a journey and be dropped anywhere. The seeds within the balls germinate within a week. As the moisture in the soil is essential for germination, the most suitable time for this activity is monsoon," he said.

"We are approaching village panchayats in Pilibhit and officials of National Cadet Corps, Army, Border Security Force, and Central Reserve Police Force for its adoption and to transform India into a green country," he added. Dr Sonia Goswami,

Participants prepared 6,000 seed balls in five days chairperson of Goswami's Moms Pride School (GMPS), said, "Participants prepared 6,000 seed balls in five days. The students from primary school were also included to instill environmental conservation from a young age. The students also learned about the importance of soil quality, manure, and their balanced mixture for the germination of seeds."

Plant physiologist at Sardar Vallabh Bhai Patel Agriculture University in Meerut, Shailendra Singh, said, "The germination rate of seed balls could go beyond 75% provided they are dropped at the required sites within two weeks from date of drying up." SP Avinash Pandey, said he was motivating families of cops living in reserve police lines' campus to participate.
