Dear Parents,

As we approach the last month of the year, I want to reach out with sincerity and openness. The recent events have weighed heavily on our entire school community. Although we are all aware of the loss we have faced, it continues to be a painful time for students, parents, and staff alike.

St. Columba's has long upheld a valued legacy and played a meaningful role in nation-building. Our teachers remain deeply committed to every child's well-being, even as many of them feel anxious due to the negativity they have recently encountered. Despite this, they continue to guide your children each day with strength and dedication. As a school, we are committed to providing additional guidance and group sessions to help them remain steady, resilient, and compassionate.

As we move forward, let us work together. Your children grow both at school and at home, and together we support their emotional and character development. As we begin a new month, please be reassured that we will continue to extend every possible support to them.

I request that you spend some time each day speaking with your children so they feel heard, supported, and understood. Your patient, positive guidance at home, especially in reinforcing effort, discipline, and character, will complement the work teachers are doing to guide and motivate them.

With all students now attending school in person as per departmental directives, we hope this becomes a period of healing, reflection, and constructive progress for our entire school community. If your child requires any additional support, the school stands with you and is always available to help.

We are grateful for your trust and for your continued support.

With every good wish,

Br. Robert Fernandes
