Dear Boys,

You have another month to go before you face your exams. I hope you are all in good space. I hope you are not panicking or getting excessively paranoid of the exams. Take it easy and relax. Trust your brains and have faith in the sincere effort you are putting in.

Continue to follow the study routine and there will be moments when you might just want to give up. Keep going. When things get tough, the tough get going. Be tough and keep your cool.

If there is anyone who is feeling apprehensive or scared of the exams and needs help, feel free to approach someone you can trust and have a chat with him or her.

If you need something, let me know.

All the best boys and I know you will all do well.

Thank you and God bless all.
